THERE'S A DISTINCT CHANEL TWIST TO THE AUTUMN-WINTER COLLECTION OF MELBOURNE-BASED DESIGNER BETTINA LIANO. CHANNELLING GLAMOUR FROM THE '50s, LIANO HAS MOVED AWAY FROM SACK AND EMPIRE DRESSES TO FOCUS ON TAILORING THAT WORSHIPS THE FEMALE FIGURE, WITH STRAPLESS BONED DRESSES AND HIGH-WAISTED TAILORED PENCIL SKIRTS

FEATURING IN THE COLLECTION, KNOWN FOR HER LITTLE BLACK DRESSES, LIANO THIS SEASON ALSO HONES IN ON SWEETHEART NECKLINES AND TUCKED, TWISTED AND PLEATED COCKTAIL NUMBERS. THERE'S EVEN A BUSTLED BODICE DRESS, A FIGURE-HUGGING NUMBER WITH A SASHYING FISH TAIL. OTHER FINDS: A DOUBLE-KNIT ZIGZAG DRESS LAYERED OVER LEGGINGS AND A CHANEL-ESQUE OPTIC KNIT LEATHER CARDIGAN, STYLED WITH LEATHER ROCKER JEANS. WATCH OUT TOO FOR TURN-UP JEANS WITH FIVE-INCH CUFFS. THE LAUNCH OF THE COLLECTION WILL TIE IN WITH THE REOPENING OF LIANO'S FLAGSHIP STORE IN MELBOURNE'S CHAPEL STREET, MARKING HER 15TH ANNIVERSARY AS ONE OF AUSTRALIA'S MOST SUCCESSFUL DESIGNERS.

FASHION AND BEAUTY AND HIGH-END COMPETITIVE SPORT ARE A NATURAL MIX, ESPECIALLY WHEN THERE'S A SLEEKLY MUSCULAR WORLD CHAMPION AND A PRESTIGIOUS INTERNATIONAL LABEL INVOLVED. HOW CAN WE

FORGET IAN THORPE'S ASSOCIATION WITH SOUTH SEA PEARL COMPANY AUTORE, SPRUING THE JEWELLERY HE DESIGNED FOR METROSEXUALS? NOW INTERNATIONAL SPA BRAND

THALGO HAS ENLISTED ITS FIRST AUSTRALIAN AMBASSADOR. OLYMPIC SWIMMING CHAMPION LEISEL JONES STEPS UP TO BE THE FACE OF THE BRAND. THALGO DIRECTOR GAVIN CAGANOFF BELIEVES JONES IS A NATURAL FIT BECAUSE THALGO'S PRODUCTS DON'TAIN KEY INGREDIENTS SUCH AS MARINE ALGAE AND SEA MINERALS THAT ARE INCREASINGLY POPULAR WITH WOMEN. THALGO, WHOSE PRODUCTS ARE MANUFACTURED IN THE SOUTH OF FRANCE, IS SOLD IN 85 COUNTRIES. ITS MAIN COMPETITOR IN THE MARINE SKIN-CARE STAKES IS CRÈME DE LA MER, DESIGNED BY AEROSPACE PHYSICIST, MAX HUBER. LA MER DOESN'T HAVE A FACE, BUT IT DOES HAVE A CULT FOLLOWING.
